

Automatic Assignment of Licenses

Licenses are assigned automatically to each user during the first login. If a user logs in without a license, the license list is checked from top to bottom and the license with the first free seat is assigned to the user.

Note: there is no check whether a license may have expired.

Therefore, the license administrator has to manage which licenses should be used automatically and whether expired licenses should be removed or moved down to the bottom of the list.

By default, the option Group by Serial is enabled. To change the position of the licenses using the arrow buttons, disable the view Group by Serial.
